FLAGRUM
STUDIOS

How we work?

A song's journey from idea to release-ready sound

Below, we outline our studio workflow in five simple steps so you know exactly what to expect and what happens with your track at every stage.

Workflow overview

Step	What happens?	Result
1. Arrangement	Developing the song idea and defining the role of each instrument	Recording-ready demo
2. Studio Recording	High-quality tracking with modern, professional gear	Recorded multitrack audio
3. Editing	Aligning tracks, pitch correction, and timing edits	Clean, organized tracks
4. Mixing	Placing every instrument in the volume balance and frequency spectrum	Final mix
5. Mastering	Handled by a specialized external mastering studio	Streaming- and radio-ready track

1. Arrangement – From Song Idea to Recording-Ready Demo

If you come to us with a song idea, we'll work together to determine when each instrument comes in, what it plays, and how it sounds, ensuring the music builds up exactly as you envision. This process involves:

- developing the song's structure and arrangement
- planning the role, entry, and performance of each instrument
- for live instruments and vocals, creating a recording-ready demo version that serves as a guide track in the studio

You can track the progress of your demo directly in your user account and send us your feedback along the way.

2. Studio Recording – Professional Quality with Modern Gear

Next, we record your track in studio quality using modern equipment, professional acoustics, and a dedicated live room. In this step, we record all vocals and instruments that will ultimately form your finished song. It's best to arrive well-prepared for this session—we recommend having your lyrics finalized and instrument parts practiced beforehand.

3. Post-Production I – Editing and Tuning

After recording, post-production begins. During editing and tuning, we assemble and align the tracks, correcting any minor pitch or timing issues to ensure the recording sounds clean and tight before moving on to fine-tuning the overall sound.

4. Post-Production II – Mixing

In the mixing stage, we find the ideal place for every track and instrument in terms of volume balance and frequency spectrum. The goal is to make every element clearly audible while highlighting the emotional message of the song.

You can listen to the finished mixes directly in your user account and provide feedback so the final result truly reflects your vision.

5. Mastering – Streaming- and Radio-Ready Result

Finally, we partner with a specialized external mastering studio to create the streaming- and radio-ready master from the finished mix, making sure your track is ready for release and sounds great on every platform

Naturally, you can join our workflow at any stage with your song ideas: whether you only need recording or mixing services, you are always welcome! ☺

Have a song idea or a rough demo ready?

Drop us a line, let's discuss your vision and turn your music into a finished masterpiece!

E-mail: studio@flagrumstudios.hu
Phone: +36 70 931 3144
Address: Nolatency Studio, 1074 Budapest, VII. District, Szövetség Street 35., Hungary
Web: flagrumstudios.hu